

LIKE THE elegant pâtisseries that line the narrow cobbled streets of Paris, the first impression of Café de Paris is cozy and familiar - small bistro tables with umbrellas set at jaunty angles line the terrasse, leading up to a stuccoed façade with tall, arched French doors. As you enter Café de Paris, aromas of Blue Mountain coffee linger in the air, a welcome greeting that beckons you in. Behind a counter laden with Danish, Napoleons, cheesecake, macarons, meringues and much, much more – one friendly server makes cappuccino, espresso and frappuccino while the other prepares crêpes to order. The temptation to devour one of everything is almost too great to resist until you remember that Café de Paris is open all day, every day, so you can stop and relax with a cup of coffee and a pastry whenever you like. In the true spirit of a typical French pâtisserie, Café de Paris becomes a pampered lifestyle rather than a singular indulgence.
