THE CURRENT AND THE NEXT GENERATION OF ECO-CONSCIOUS TRAVELERS

- * Discover the island's new Sustainability Lab and create your very own bespoke souvenir from recycled plastic
- * Join the Turtle Ranger programme and patrol the island in search of turtle nests. Help the resident marine biologist monitor endangered Hawksbill Turtles and tend to nests, releasing baby turtles into the ocean – this year, we have released more than 500 baby turtles!
- * Learn more about our conservation initiatives - we are partnered with two pioneering NGOs based in the Maldives; the Olive Ridley Project which focuses on turtle research, and with the Manta Trust
- * Discover the Maldives' only coral regeneration project in the form of an underwater art installation, the Coralarium. Join the marine biologist on an underwater art tour, learning about the soaring sculptures, designed by British eco-artist Jason DeCaires Taylor, and their vital role in restoring the marine life and surrounding reef. Help the reef flourish and plant your very own piece of coral, which can be visited in years to come
- * Discover the wondrous underwater world with the resident marine biologist, exploring the 9km house reef and crystal-clear lagoon, rubbing shoulders with a circus of tropical fish, manta rays, reef sharks and turtles
